Stocks in Strong Rally

New York, Nov. 7 (AP)—The stock market went through another trying period of forced liquidation, which carried many issues down 5 to nearly 20 points in the early trading today, and then rallied in impressive fashion as strong buying support came into the market.

Most of the early declines were materially cut down, or wiped out, and a number were converted into gains of 1 to about 15 points. It was one of the most impressive recoveries since the current "bear" market started with the disastrous break of October 24.

Total sales for the three hours' trading were 7,859,360 shares. Many brokers accepted the strong buying support which came into the market after the first flurry of selling had subsided as evidence that the market had "trunk bottom," at least for the time being, and that the bulk of the depressed stock that has been overhanging the market had been cleaned up. The rally started before the end of the first hour and continued through to the close, although final prices showed some concessions from the day's high levels.

Trading was again in unusually heavy volume. Opening blocks of 5000 to 7500 shares were followed by long strings of smaller transactions, with the result that the ticker fell more than an hour before the close.

The $5000 note was given by Coakley to the Te-Miami Banking Co. and was endorsed by banking company to Biscayne Trust Co. and First Trust & Savings Bank as trustees and they endorsed it to M. F. Sanders as receiver for the Te-Miami Banking Co., who endorsed it to the plaintiff.

based in her own recognition and Edridge in his of $100.

Lucas and Edridge are widely known in social circles. They were married about three years ago.

According to the police, Lucas became suspicious of his wife some time ago, and recently he installed a telephone in his living room, while the other end was attached to a tree in the rear of the house, being equipped with four ear phones.

Lucas told the police that he and his father, Ernest Lucas, arrested Edridge in rear of his house and saw Edridge enter.

After he came out, they said, but Mrs. Lucas induced him to "come in again."

When Edridge returned, Lucas said his wife remarked: "Come in, Edridge."

Edridge re-entered.

They listened in, he said, and heard sufficient conversation to warrant calling the police.

The police returned and told the house, saying they had no legal right to do so under the circumstances.

Thereupon, according to the police, the older Lucas said that, as a creature in Gloucester, he would lead the house and they could not company him.

Further, he and the two policemen went into the house by various entrances.

In the living room, it is alleged, they found Mrs. Lucas and Edridge. The wife, police said, dropped in a dead faint when the husband entered.

Edridge was said to have made a demonstration. He was looked in at Gloucester police station.

He held in jail for his appearance in court today and John J. Griffin, city engineer of Gloucester, said to be a brother-in-law, was notified. He furnished bail.

Publishers of the weekly report of the New York Federal Reserve bank this evening is expected to disclose another huge reduction in brokers' borrowings.

While some uneasiness has been caused by a result of the falling off in railroad traffic in the latter part of October, and the reported slackening in steel buying, bankers and business men look for general recession in business, especially in merchandise of the luxury class.

Several more favorable dividends were announced to-day. Directors of the Northwestern Railroad raised the annual rate from $4 to $5, and National Tea directors from $1.50 to $2.

36 Holdups in N. Y. to One in London

London, Nov. 7 (INS)—Officials of Scotland Yard, Britain's famed all-science headquarters, believed Grover A. Whalen, New York's police commissioner, was "taking things too far" when he declared recently that his police department was superior to Scotland Yard.

They point to Scotland Yard's record to refute Commissioner Whalen's claim, and declare London is miles ahead of New York in detection and suppression of crime. An English official said:

"No better illustration can be given than Britain's figures for 1928. Scotland Yard investigated 18 murders. There were only one conviction.

In the last five months of 1929 there were 134 murders and only one conviction.

"Statistics show that the odds are 11 to 4 that a man who kills another man in New York City will never be indicted and 11 to 3 that he will never be convicted even of manslaughter.

"The chances of being held up and robbed in New York are 36 times greater than in London."

COLLEGE GRADS NEED SOCIAL TRAINING

Professor Urges Courses Full of Live Human Interest

New York, Nov. 7 (INS)—When a college graduate asks for a job the employer is not interested in his possible knowledge of Greek, but in his background and social qualities.

"If there are satisfactory his intellectual abilities have an opportunity to assert themselves," today declared Dean Herbert E. Hawkes of Columbia College. "But without these superficial attractions the more solid qualities never have a chance."

Dean Hawkes, one of the country's leading educators, was addressing the opening session of the convention of the Association of American Medical Colleges at the Columbia Medical School.

"If the college pretends to make the college residence as complete a preparation for the life work of the student as possible, then it cannot fail to give him both through the curriculum and through the extracurricular activities an opportunity to become a person of full human interests," said Dean Hawkes.

The dean pointed out that the tendency in American colleges was to give the student the opportunity of finding his own way of life rather than being subject to regime of forcible feeding.

He said that this was being accomplished by inter-departmental service of the character, rather than explicit departmental requirements.

Dawes Discards Roll Collar for 'Wings'

Washington, Nov. 7 (AP)—Observing friends of Ambassador Charles G. Dawes have been surprised to learn that he has discarded his roll collar for a "V" opening in front has been replaced by the more orthodox wing neckwear.

This much light was thrown on the situation today by Rufus C. Dawes, the general's brother, who was in Washington. The change came about because "of the exigencies of London haberdashery," said Rufus, adding that the British apparently never heard of that old collar of his brother's.

When Gen. Dawes himself was asked about it he waved his hand in mock seriousness in much the same manner he did when he was asked some time ago about his stockings and knee braces, asserting that he had never heard of them.

"It won't say a thing about anything like that," he said.

AGITATION SPREADS IN NATION FOR NEW WEALTH IN INCOME TAXES

WILD CASE BUNDLES WOULD HURDLE

Officials Do Not Believe Further Reduction Would Hurt the U. S. Pocketbook

Washington, Nov. 7.—With the Treasury fretting over sums that run into billions seeking a way to tax reduction, agitation was ailing today from many quarters for a serious revenue law change.

Lighting the burden of assessment the Government puts on the country every year.

Among the latest demands was for a boost in the allowance of dependents, and an increase in the age within which children may be claimed as dependents.

Under the present law a deduction of $500 may be made for dependents, including children up to the age of 18 years. In certain congressional circles it was declared that with advancing cost of living, especially of education, the deduction should be materially higher.

Also the point was made that with many young people in college after the age of 18, when their income is usually high, an increase should be made to 21 years.

There has been strong demand among the country for an increase in the credit of 25 per cent allowed on earned income and some agitation for increasing the limits within which the credit may be taken.

U. S. COMMERCE BOARD ACTS
Under the 1928 revenue act the maximum earned income is $20,000. Some took the view that the credit for the larger for the first $10,000 of earned income leaving the deduction for the remainder at 50 per cent.

U. S. Chamber of Commerce officials are not in favor of the corporation tax from 12 to 10 per cent holding that it would stimulate holding that it would produce sufficient additional revenue to the government to meet the loss occasioned by the rate change. Several congressmen already been held with high treasury officials.

The treasury will soon have its estimates of income for next year and will then be prepared to say whether revenues will justify a reduction. The uncertainty in revenue occasioned by the stock market crash has complicated the estimating job this year.

SENATE AT PLAY PUTS DIGNITY ON THE SHELF

Washington, Nov. 7 (AP)—Senate dignity gave way to a premature Yuletide spirit in the Senate chamber today as veteran and junior members in going to their desks passed a huge display of knickknacks ranging from brass horns to bird cages.

Chattering about the big table of exhibits, senator after senator could not resist the temptation to pick up an article to see the whole go round or to smell of the aroma of a foreign perfume.

In the middle of a quorum call, when all was supposed to be quiet like the night before Christmas, Senator Norris of Nebraska, chairman of the judiciary committee, fetched a huge brass horn, rose on his feet and made merry with him hold their ears as he began, but did not finish a powerful blast.

Then another Senator lifted a skullie and began strumming an air that no one could make out.

Mixing in the fun, Senator Vandenberg of Michigan took a big purple bottle deposited on the desk of Senator Brookhart of Texas, who only two days ago revealed the goings on at what he termed a "Wall Street booze party" in a Washington hotel, Brookhart had not yet arrived, but he was denied the "gift" anyway when a capitol attaché took the bottle.

When the session finally opened and the tariff debate resumed, Senator Barkley of Kentucky asked:

"By what authority has Krenge and Woodworth moved into this chamber?"

The record would indicate that applies to no one, replied Senator Ashurst of Arizona, who was on his feet discussing Krenge.

The tariff, of course, was responsible for the party as the "present" turned out to be a display of foreign articles, the cheapness of which high tariff advocates wanted to use to bolster their claims for increased duties.

When Babies CRY

Babies will cry, often for no apparent reason. You may not know what's wrong, but you can always give Castoria. This soon has your little one comfortably; if not, you should call a doctor.

Don't experiment with medicines intended for the stronger systems of adults! Most of those little upsets are soon soothed away by a little of this pleasant-tasting, gentle-acting children's remedy that children like.

It may be the stomach, or may be the little bowels. Or in the case of older children, a sluggish, constipated condition. Castoria is still the thing to give. It is almost certain to clear up any minor ailment, and could by no possibility do the youngest child the slightest harm. So it's the first thing to think of when a child has a coated tongue; won't play, can't sleep, is fretful or out of sorts. Get the genuine; it always has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the package.

NO REMEDY FOR KISSES, SAYS ELINOR GLYN

London, Nov. 7 (INS)—"Kissing is a natural habit that cannot be abolished and all the legislation in the world won't prevent it."

"This was the answer given today by Elinor Glyn, writer and creator of 'It' when interviewed today by the suggestion that coeducation should be discouraged on the grounds it spread colds, influenza and germs of various diseases."

"Any man who hesitates to kiss his wife in order to debate the effect of the kiss on his throat deserves to be divorced," she said.

"And in America he probably would be."

"Can you imagine the sweet young thing, who has just accepted with enthusiasm an impassioned proposal of marriage, saying, 'Yes, George, I will marry you—but no, you must not kiss me. It is detrimental to the health.'"

"Some time ago an ingenuously minded medical man in America suggested that the passage of germs from mouth to mouth during a kiss could be arrested if an antiseptic gauze were placed between the lips of the kissers.

"Now I ask you—can you imagine kissing a person through an antiseptic gauze?"

"No!" You can drill it into the minds of the people that germ distribution is included in a kiss, but you will never cure them."

U. OF MICHIGAN STUDENTS KICK AT 'EVICION'

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 7 (AP)—Declaring the decision of University of Michigan authorities to close Fletcher hall, a men's dormitory, amounts to eviction and punishment of innocent individuals, more than 80 students residing in the dormitory have drafted a petition to President Alexander Ruthven, urging rescinding of the closure order.

The dormitory was raided last Saturday and a quantity of wine and whiskey found in the attic. Two students, Harold McKen, of Pittsburgh, and Charles Fitzpatrick, of Flushing, N. Y., were arrested and released on bond and a third, Alexander Gow of Windsor, Ont., is to be brought here today for arraignment on a liquor law violation charge.

A notice posted in the dormitory informed the occupants it would be closed next Monday until the end of the semester.

SLAP ON BACK SAVES BOY IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Nov. 7 (AP)—A slap on the back did for little Leonard Gilbert what science had failed for five months to do.

Last spring the 2½-year-old boy swallowed a screw. His parents did not know of it until later, when severe spells of coughing developed. Two operations were performed without success, the screw being wedged in the windpipe in such a manner that surgeons were unable to reach it without endangering the child's life.

Plans were made to take the child to Philadelphia for a third operation. He began coughing violently. His nurse picked him up by the heels and slapped the boy hard on the back. The screw dropped from his mouth.

Giant Steam Shovel Can Lift an Auto Seven Stories

Du Quoin, Ill., Nov. 7 (AP)—The world's largest steam shovel, of a capacity and power sufficient to lift a large automobile to the top of a seven-story building, was put into service today in the presence of several hundred guests. It is part of the coal-stripping apparatus installed recently in the Fidelity mine of the United Electric Coal Co.

Coupled with the shovel is the largest derrick ever built for the preparation of coal. The shovel weighs about 100 tons, twice as heavy as any previous shovel.

OPEN SWEEPING CHILD WELFARE SURVEY SOON

Washington, Nov. 7.—Secretary Wilson, as chairman of the White House conference on child health and protection, announced that his various committees were to make the most sweeping study of child welfare ever made in all the world.

Mr. E. Barnard, director of the planning committee, and other members of the committee, who were drawn from all types of organizations engaged in welfare work, finished three months' work recently by recommending the most complete study possible of all work being done for the advancement of the child, from which summary will be drawn for future action.

The work of the conference has been divided into four major sections: Medical service, headed by Dr. Samuel McC. Hamill of Philadelphia; public health service and administration, headed by Dr. C. Cummings; education and training, headed by F. J. Kelly, president of the University of Idaho; and study of the handicapped child, to be directed by C. Carstairs, director of the Child Welfare League of America.

Under each of the major sections have been placed certain particular phases of child welfare, each of which is being recognized as an authority on the subject.

Too Much ACID

Many people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually excess acid. Correct it with an alkali. The best way, the quick, harmless and efficient way, is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained for 50 years the standard with physicians. One spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and at once. The symptoms disappear in five minutes.

You will never use crude methods when you know this better method. And you will never suffer from excess acid when you prove out this easy relief. Please do that—for your own sake—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—no drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of the Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

Youth Has Found The Way! AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE has cultivated the fertile field of opportunity and invites everyone to roam in search of desired pursuits. Nothing remains of that ancient prejudice bound the apprentice, without choice, to his career.

"toasting did it"—
Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's toasted"
No Throat Irritation—No Cough.

TUNE IN—The Lucky Strike Dance Orchestra, every Saturday night, over a coast-to-coast network of the N.B.C.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

BARBOUR TALKS TO JEWISH WOMEN

By NANCY BREWSTER

Providence, Nov. 7.—Sincerely, genuineness and realism are the dominant notes of character, Dr. Clarence A. Barbour, president of Brown University, told delegates and guests of the New England Regional of the National Council of Jewish Women at the evening session in Temple Beth Ed.

And these dominant notes, he continued, characterize with absolute sureness whether we are real men and women.

"The broadening that some people thinking they are getting by renunciation of ideals, he branded as 'cheating'."

"Sometimes when we think we are getting broader because we don't do this and don't do that, and do this and do that, we are really getting cheeper."

The new president of Brown University talked of broken dreams, faded hopes, plans that never are executed. Of the goodness that people do when they don't know they are doing it, and of "infinite."

He asked the audience to accompany their sons of life, to be and harmoniously. He said that sometimes they were at odds with what they were trying to do because their inner selves were rebellious.

Mrs. Caesar Mich, presiding at the evening session, introduced President Barbour.

SESSIONS END TODAY

Today the regional concludes its two-day program, on which two national officers have conspicuous places. The immigrant aid problem is to be discussed by the national chairman, Mrs. Maurice Goldman.

Mrs. Archibald Silverman will bring greetings from the American Jewish Congress this afternoon, and Mrs. A. A. Fain will speak for the Providence League of Jewish Women's Clubs. Mrs. Frances Fink, national chairman of the vocational guidance, will make the afternoon address.

Prager will tell about the national tribunal to take place in Los Angeles next January.

The need of larger membership that the program be carried out successfully was stressed.

Mrs. Herbert Brown Caffrey of the executive committee reported close to 100 delegates.

CALENDAR BILL HIT

In conjunction with other Jewish organizations throughout the country, the New England Regional Conference went on record as opposing the bill to simplify the calendar now pending in Congress.

Delegates from all over New England, through the action of legislation, Mrs. Moses Einstein, signified their willingness to join in the work of a league recently formed in New York City to safeguard the fixity of the Sabbath.

Mrs. Einstein, reporting the national sentiment, said the co-operation of every Jewish organization in New England in protesting the adoption of any method which would "destroy the existing and immovably fixed periodicity of the Sabbath."

This day is traditionally sacred with the Jews. Dr. Moses Hymanson heads the league and Rabbi Stephen

TELLS FAILURE FOR 40 MILLION

ENFORCE DIVORCE LAWS

Birth control legislation will be studied by the groups. The women are to fight for uniform marriage and divorce laws, as recommended by the National body.

More than 100 women from the sectional councils in the six states arrived at the Hotel Narragansett, the regional headquarters.

"We as a part of the national organization are interested in the adoption of uniform marriage and divorce laws, as recommended by the National body."

"We feel that no state should have any edge on any other state. Where incompatability of temperament is the cause for divorce in one state, it should be the reason for divorce in another. And so through out the country this is the first time the national council has gone on record as favoring uniformity in divorce and marriage laws."

"The sections are urged to carry out the message urged upon them by the National Council. It is so much easier to get a divorce in one state than in some of the others, that it hardly seems fair. We want all reasons and causes recognized throughout the country."

HIT RICH MAN AND 6 RE IN CHILD MURDER

Philadelphia, Nov. 7 (INS)—The spotlight shifted to Philadelphia today in the search for the slayer of four-year-old Dorothy Rogers, as police sought a wealthy man friend of Gladys Parkes Baker, erstwhile cabaret entertainer and Philadelphia model, for whom a warrant has been sworn out charging her with suspicion of murder in the child's death.

Arrest of the man friend, who posed as the woman's husband when she secured possession of the little girl and her brother, Timothy, 2, police are confident will throw much light on the circumstances surrounding the child's death.

The four-year-old ward was slain and her body dissected and immersed in quicklime to hasten its decomposition, police charge. Then the attractive showgirl packed the body into a suitcase and deposited the skeleton under a clump of bushes near National Park, N. J. Camden County detectives charge.

The tragedy and the frame of the child's fast-paced father, Alan Rogers, Woodbury insurance agent, that his baby son also has met the same fate as Dorothy has aroused much sympathy in the state.

The search will be greatly expedited, authorities say, with the arrest of the man who now is believed to have supplied her with large sums of money during the early days of her residence in Camden.

MAINE BEAR ON FANEUIL HALL MARKET

It was a bear market today at the opening of the stock exchange in Faneuil Hall.

This "stock exchange" refers to wild stock—which has its own method of going up and down in price quotations.

The bears that entered the market were from Maine, and sold at 50 cents a pound. The supply is more or less limited and new on the market.

Joining the bears for inviting buys were pigs—whole ones and part ones. These were at $4 to $5 depending upon size which averaged 12 to 15 pounds.

Venison steak is still selling at one dollar for best cuts. Turkeys continue to ease down in price, and some fine Norton, Mass. specimens are available at 70 cents.

This year Massachusetts gobblers are plentiful and will tend to keep the retail price down. The Norton dealer has 5000 birds in reserve, he said, and many more carloads are ready elsewhere in the state.

Eggs are running from 55 to 77 cents. Chickens are at 45 to 48 cents; fowl at 35 and 40.

Best steak is about the same. Lobster is sold for 65 cents, rib chops for 45 cents, fore quarters for 40 cents, and pork chops for 30 cents.

Some kinds of fish are scarce.

Blackhead is from 25 to 35 cents, while haddock and cod are at 12 cents. Lobsters are selling for 80 cents.

Guatemala Volcano Eruption Ceases

Guatemala City, Nov. 7 (AP)—

The Guatemalan minister of promotion has informed the government after a visit to El Palmar and the zone affected by eruption of the volcano, Santa Maria, that the eruption has ceased.

It was not able to estimate loss of life or property damage since many localities are still surrounded by molten lava, but in some official quarters it was estimated the number of dead would reach 400.

$47,968 Tax Refund

Washington, Nov. 7.—A refund of $47,968 to the General Fire Extinguisher Co., Providence, for over assessment of income and profits taxes in 1918 has been announced by the internal revenue bureau. The over assessment resulted from re-determination of the profits tax liability.

To Award Curley Auto on Official Figures

A claimant to the Ford automobile to be given the winner of the Curley plurality estimating contest, has already appeared—but may not be the lucky voter.

Early today a man telephoned to the Boston Evening American, saying that he had noticed Curley's margin over Mansfield was given in newspapers as 19,517.

"Send me the automobile," he said.

In the next breath, the man told how he had estimated the Curley victory to be at 18,500.

"I guess that makes me within 17 votes and surely the closest," he urged.

The staff member explained to the individual that his guess may prove somewhat farther off from the printed car than may first appear.

This automobile is to be awarded to the man or woman who estimated closest to the official plurality of Curley. This means that the newspaper totals of 19,517 cannot be accepted as final, but that the official counting of the election commissioners must be awaited.

As newspapers and press associations occasionally make errors of varying degrees in the busy election night reports, the Curley figure may be a few hundred above or a few hundred below the announced total.

Then, too, the figure may be fairly close to that given out by the Boston Herald. All of which it proves that thousands of people who filed estimates on the 50,000 slips in the big Curley ballot box may be close to the Ford award.

The Curley ballot committee requested the Boston Evening American to take charge of the awarding of the Ford, to insure absolute impartiality.

As soon as the official count is known in two or three days, the newspaper and its special committee of prominent Curley supporters will begin their task. Further details of the awarding of the Ford will be published in this newspaper during the next few days.

Maine Man Killed in Auto by Train

Portland, Me., Nov. 7 (AP)—Word was received here that Dr. Harold E. Carney, 41, a native of this city and Bowdoin College graduate, and J. M. Cavin of New Orleans were killed near Monroe, La., when an automobile driven by Dr. Carney was struck by an Illinois railroad express train.

The physician, a Monroe volunteer fireman, was speeding across a grade crossing to a fire when the accident occurred. He was a World War veteran. Funeral services will be held at Hudson, Mass.

WANTS STOCK ELIGIBLE TO REDISCOUNT

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 7 (AP)—A member of the Federal reserve bank to make all legitimate collateral including stock certificates eligible to rediscunt privileges was advocated today by Samuel P. Arnold, president of the Chicago board of trade, a speaker before the Nebraska bankers association.

Mr. Arnold, head of the national principal commodity exchange, traced developments of the recent stock market collapse and centered much of his attention on the "fading policies" of the federal reserve board, which he connected closely with the crash.

Mr. Arnold said as the law is now construed, rediscunts apply only to notes drawn for agricultural commercial or industrial purposes, a steadily decreasing volume.

An "easy money policy" adopted by the federal reserve board in 1927 to aid European countries in recovering from post-war troubles, was named by Mr. Arnold as the foundation of the "irreversible market movement" which reached its peak last summer.

"When the market collapsed, with a record-breaking drop of $1,000,000 in broken loans," Mr. Arnold asserted, "the reserve board may be said to have won its fight against the absorption of credit on speculation, but many contend it won the fight only after having given up the battle."

It seems certain now, the Board of Trade leader said, that the period of high money rates is definitely ended.

Section 6.—The driver of a vehicle intending to turn to the right at an intersection shall approach such intersection in the lane for traffic nearest to the right side of the highway, and in turning shall keep so closely as practicable to the right curb or edge of the highway; and, when intending to turn to the left, shall approach and enter such intersection in the lane for traffic to the right of and nearest to the center line of highway, and at the point of facing shall drive said vehicle to the right of the center line of the highway being entered."

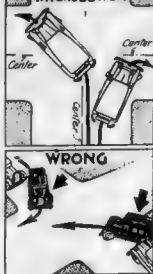

By DR. MILLER MCINTOSH, Traffic Expert, Department of Public Works

This section specifies a rule which is so logical that it is generally followed by the great majority of sensible motorists. A driver who desires to turn to the left at an intersection is foolish indeed to approach the crossing in the lane of traffic nearest to the right hand side of the street, for by so doing he must cross all of the other lines of traffic in making the turn. The same situation applies in connection with the right hand turn which should be made from the right lane instead of from the center of the roadway.

WORLD REVOLT IS CHANTED IN MOSCOW

Moscow, Nov. 7 (INS)—Hundreds of thousands paraded in Red sq today in a stupendous celebration marking the 12th anniversary of the revolution of 1917.

Spashes of red blazoned everywhere. Thousands of revolutionary placards passed in an endless stream through the streets. In one respect it differed from all former celebrations since the death of the great Soviet leader, Nicolai Lenin. No direct tribute was paid him by his ardent worshippers, for the first time since he died, because his body lay hidden in the Kremlin, pending its removal to a new tomb, now under construction.

The new Lenin mausoleum occupies half of Moscow's famous Red sq. Stands built all around the square gave it the aspect of a huge amphitheater. Red was the dominating color.

There were both military and civil parades. All branches of the Army were represented in dress array. Auxiliary units of women and youths also marched. Last came the great army of marching workers.

The imminent world revolution and the war menace from capitalist countries was again the dominant slogan from which the speeches were molded.

The 150,000 troops holding the Moscow frontier were honored as heroes in song, as well as in speeches. They received anniversary gifts in the form of food, smokes and warm clothing.

Josef Stalin, leader of the Communist party, who recently returned to Moscow after several nervous breakdown participated in weeks in a sanitarium due to the ceremonies.

"They work while you sleep"

Do you have days when you feel sluggish—when everything seems an effort—and you have no appetite? Take a candy Cascaret before you go to bed! This gentle, harmless aid to the bowels is often all that is needed to clear up a sick headache and cause any other symptom of sluggishness to vanish.

Cascarets can't harm you for cascara is a favored laxative with medical authorities. It does a perfect job of cleansing without violence and without forming the laxative habit. Cascarets are pleasant to take, for they are sweetened with pure cane sugar and flavored with real licorice—children love them.

A candy Cascaret or two will usually clear up a bilious, constipated condition between night and morning. Their action is so gentle there is no discomfort from their use or danger in their frequent use. They are a pure vegetable product. They do not weaken the system. In fact, the cascara actually strengthens bowel muscles. Remember this when you have a coated tongue, bad breath, when the head feels dull or there is any sign of poor elimination.

WIFE OF 14, IN SHADOW OF BLINDNESS, CURED AT SHRINE

WIFE TO READ WITHOUT GLASSES

Mrs. Labrecque of Lawrence Declares That Doctor Had Called Case Hopeless

Another miraculous cure was reported today as a result of a visit to the grave of Rev. Patrick Power in Holy Cross Cemetery, Malden, where Mrs. Lena Labrecque, mother of 14 children, said she was doing the housework without eyeglasses for the first time in 25 years.

Last night she read the Bible without glasses for the first time in the same number of years.

Mrs. Labrecque said that night returned to her left eye today, although it had been useless for 25 years.

ABLE TO READ NOW.

"My left eye has been absolutely useless since I was six years of age," said Mrs. Labrecque, "but tonight I noticed a difference. When I placed my hand over my right eye I noticed the sensation of light. Later I was able to read the large headlines in a newspaper with my left eye."

"I attribute the return of my eyesight to faith. When I went to Father Power's grave yesterday, with my son Harry, I prayed for the stopping of tears from the tear ducts of my right eye."

"The flow of tears from the right eye caused on my return home from the grave after I had dipped my handkerchief in the rain water and placed it on the grave and placed the wet handkerchief to my eyes. I took my glasses and found my eyes and read roadside signs."

"CURED BY FAITH"

"I have been unable to go without glasses for 25 years. Six weeks ago the tear duct in my right eye became affected and my vision was so impaired that I had difficulty in getting around the house to do my work and could not recognize my friends."

"I have in my possession a statement by a St. Louis surgeon, to whom I went for treatment while visiting there, that treatments to my left eye would be of no value and that the trouble in my right eye had progressed to such an extent that it could not be halted."

"Faith in God's goodness has apparently cured me."

For many years she has been interested in this department of Boston University and every year class exercises are held on her estate. The award came as a complete surprise to the illustrious author.

Fair Tonight and Colder Tomorrow

Fair weather, with seasonal temperatures, is promised Bostonians for the next two days by the official forecaster. Although it is raining today in much of the South and cloudy as far north as Denver, Kansas City and Washington, New England is enjoying clear cool weather today.

The forecast for Boston and vicinity is: Fair tonight and Friday; colder tonight; gentle winds, mostly west to north.

PLANS TO MAKE HUBB INDUSTRIAL CENTER

Extension of Airport to Governor's Island One of Big Projects Scheduled

Representatives of every commercial and trade organization in Boston are to be included in a huge advisory planning board of 750 members which Mayor Curley announces he will create when he takes office, to guarantee Boston's industrial future.

The press, the clergy, industrial and financial institutions will also be included, so as to be representative. Mayor Curley will ask the aid of all institutions of learning with Greater Boston in the program.

With this array of aid, Mayor Curley hopes to institute a program for a greater Boston which has ever existed and will be second to no city in the world.

OUTLINES PLANS

Taking up the various projects which he will attempt to carry out when he assumes the office of mayor next January, Curley said:

The most important work during his administration will be the establishment of an enlarged city planning board. I propose to increase the board to 250 members representing the leading industrial, commercial, financial, labor and educational organizations in the community.

I propose to invite representatives of all of the leading industrial, including the Harvard school of business administration and the Babson Institute to serve as members of the board. I believe it will be invited to work on the development of the city and the nation of the requirements of the next 20 years. It will delve into all activities of the city and interpret the ways and means of promoting industry and commerce.

It should be possible, through the instrumentality of this great organization, in the event of a consolidation of the New England railroads, to insist upon an electrification of the railroads within the metropolitan area and create a Greater Boston.

Among the projects which Curley will suggest that the planning board work for are:

FAVORS ELECTRIFICATION

1. In the event of a consolidation of the New England railroads, insistence be made upon the electrification of these railroads within the metropolitan area.

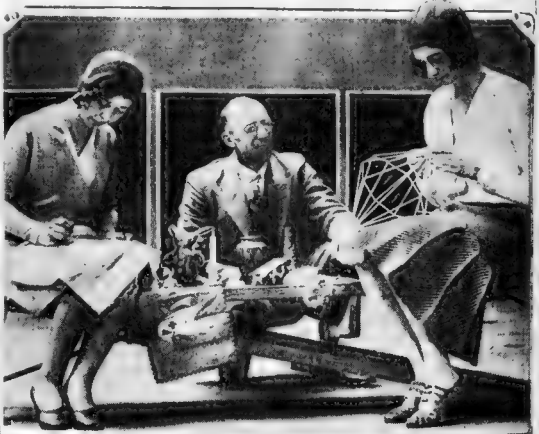

2. The creation of a Greater Boston and the electrification of the railroads within the metropolitan area, which would make possible the establishment of a belt line railroad terminal wharf, direct connections could be established between the railroad lines entering Boston and the steamship docks.

3. The extension of the Boston airport to Governor's Island, by means of filled-in land in the harbor.

—An immediate study of rapid transit needs and action for the relief of congestion at Governor's Island, from the army base the Strandway in South Boston.

The completion of the Strandway and the Columbus park improvements.

Study Manual Arts to Teach Poor

Elizabeth Sharer, John A. Martin, Edith Wolcott

Teaching the children of the poor to make handicraft goods is one of the more pleasant of social service activities. Miss Elizabeth Sharer of the Jamaica Neighborhood House and Miss Edith Wolcott of the Elizabeth Peabody Home are seen taking instructions at the Community Service Center from John A. Martin. They will impart the secret of making many of the pretty ornaments and toys which their little children are unable to buy. The children show remarkable facility in learning these arts and provide themselves and families with many a cherished possession. (Staff photo.)

QUANTUM FIRE IS PROBED

Naval authorities, the state fire marshal and Quincy police joined today in investigating the cause of a fire at the famous Victory yacht club at Squantum, which caused a loss estimated from $50,000 to $100,000 and damaged $100,000 worth of private yachts.

Fanned by a stiff breeze from the ocean end of the point, the fire threatened the Victory yacht yard, where some 50 big yachts and a fleet of smaller cruisers and racing sloops are tied up in tide water slips or hauled out for the winter.

Among the larger yachts, eight tied up in the basin was the 230-foot steam yacht Aztec, owned by Albert C. Entrance, Boston broker.

The two 350-foot motor construction in the basin of O'Connell and a 360-foot for Anne Goodale of Boston, which is about one-third finished and will cost $1,000,000, are also in the basin.

The fire started from spontaneous combustion of some oil-soaked rags, it is believed, and spread to the yachts.

The fire was discovered at 11:30 p.m. and the alarm was sounded.

Fur-Trimmed Cloth Coats With That Delightful Dash and Swagger Are Features of Winter Styles

(SKETCHED IN PARIS)

AND so you see her wearing a coat of black lada cloth, its velvety surface showing off glowingly the trimmings, gray astrakhan used irregularly on the deep shawl collar and puffed sleeves. The circular flounce which forms the lower half of the coat is somewhat longer in the back.

Dark Woolens More in Demand Than Any Other Style

Paris Bureau of the Boston Evening American

PARIS, France, Nov. 7.—The reign of the cloth coat is hailed with a storm of applause. The one strictly utilitarian cloth coat, that was our bad weather standby, is now sunning itself in the light of popular approval.

It has become a thing of beauty, thanks to the artistry and careful attention it has received from the couturiers here.

There are many women with lovely fur coats, who are more often seen in lavishly trimmed cloth coats than in their more costly wraps.

There is such a delightful dash and swagger to the coats this season, that many patrons of the leading designers find it hard to resist their appeal, and so find themselves with a small collection of coats each one of which is a gem. Dark woolens trimmed with kimmer and astrakhan seems to be more in demand than any other style.

We show a sketch of what was conceded to be quite the smartest coat at luncheon at the Ritz this week, and it is an authentic example of the choice of a stylish Parisienne whose judgment invariably correctly interprets the mode.

LUCIEN LELONG makes this afternoon or informal dinner dress of a navy blue lad of a small and delicate pattern. A cap-like bolero in back is cut to form two round tails, while the bodice in front is plain and has a round décolletage. The upper half of the skirt is very closely fitted about the hips, and dips down a back to join the circular and very long flounce which reaches quite to the heels behind.

'BLUE PERIOD'

PICTURE DRAWN BY BEARS IS TOO GLOOMY

Wall Street herra as we I na Wall

Direct gains are largely due to laying low north Canadian single index of production. Just now the picture drawn by the bears looks decidedly too gloomy. Yesterday they seized upon the decline in weekly loadings and sold freely all over the hat. One swallow does not make a spring, the old saying tells us, and the loading figures for a single week are not of supreme significance one way or the other. Undoubtedly the light grain crop was a factor in reducing loadings, and this factor will continue to manifest itself during weeks to come.

Tomorrow comes the annual stockholders' meeting of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, which the big building with the massive seals of all the New England States on its exterior will present an unusually busy scene. Governor W. P. G. Harding and Chairman Frederic C. Curtis will be heard by the gathering. The principal address will be made by Sen. Carter Glass of Virginia, former Secretary of the Treasury, one of the "fathers" of the Federal Reserve System.

The stock market today was again upon abbreviated time, which

Senator Carter

It is scheduled to follow for the rest of this week's "full days." The usual two-hour abbreviated sessions will be held on the remaining days altogether. Some big stock exchange houses are still far behind—four or five days in some cases—with their bookkeeping.

Some rallies are likely until the situation is cleared up. In the meantime, many stocks remain on the bargain counter. There is no need to wait for a market to turn. There is much to invest, and plenty of people have. The trouble is they are afraid to buy sound stocks when they are low and the market is bearish. They wait until the strong boxes at inflated values.

With the tickers running nearly two hours late, tape readers wanted to know where was the abbreviation of the market.

Highly-placed friend of the writer in Washington declares that still easier money is desired by the Federal Reserve leaders. With a 1 per cent. reduction in the goal for early next year. An intermediate drop of 4 1/2 per cent is considered as being "on the cards." The Federal Reserve Board is receiving a fair volume of applause at this time, nevertheless Congressional debates are expected to bring considerable criticism.

The criticism will be based on the claim that the Federal Reserve was essentially wrong. It will be declared that the board's withholding funds from the securities market had about as much effect as that drew funds from abroad to the detriment of Europe, and that it was the withdrawal of these funds that started the panic which ended in the grand crash. No one to date has questioned the well meaning of the board.

When you talk about the "Big Board" today, you sometimes have to explain what you mean. The New York Stock Exchange is the Federal Reserve.

There is one commodity you hear a great deal about which you hear no talk of impending price cuts. That is suzer. The talk in trade sources is that the universal agreement is likely to be reached before many months have elapsed. The refined sugar is 25 cents in price, and it takes a time-consuming consultation houses are declaring the statistical outlook warrants better prices for raw sugar. The Cuban sugar crop will undoubtedly fall below the 27,146,486 tons produced in 1928-29, the Cuban crop alone being expected to run at 15,000,000 tons, less than last year, with the total decrease possibly running as high as 1,000,000 tons. Consumption has been increasing at the rate of 500,000 to 1,000,000 tons a year, and production at a slightly higher rate.

TI's prospective decline in this year's crop, however, would cause accumulated stocks to be heavily drawn on; and granted maintenance of production around the present levels, would bring about the balance between supply and demand which sugar producers have been looking for since the war.

DISCOURAGED BY WILLIAMS

Carl Williams, cotton representative of the Federal Farm Board, says: "The Federal Farm Board is not an industry board. It was formed to advise agriculture. Except this one, no law was ever passed directly instructing a government to use the money of all the people to help one industry only. It was done in this case because the people of America believe that farmers should have an equal chance with any people for prosperity, and that is the duty of the government to give all of its people that equal chance."

"The Federal Farm Board is directed to help farmers, no matter where they live in the nation nor what crops they grow. It is plain that this help cannot be the same problem, the problems of wheat are different from those of cotton."

"Cotton is perhaps the hardest of all. The crop is grown in many countries. More than half of America's production must be exported, and comes directly to market. Therefore, to quality and price, into competition with all of the world's cotton. The farmer is in a deep and plentiful, and where the demand of living is more than much lower than it is anywhere else in the United States."

"Even the problems of cotton growers are not all alike. The cotton belt, extending from Texas to California. Cotton is grown under as many different conditions as there are climates, soils, kinds of people and methods of farming."

"Conditions are different in the cotton belt from those in the western, and the western has the benefit of it."

"Between the years 1920 and 1928, the acreage of cotton in the United States increased from 20 million to 27 million. This increase was maintained in 1929. The cotton of two states today have half of the acreage planted to cotton in the United States. Forty years ago they had none."

"The farmers planted cotton in the western belt because on level prairie, with large teams and on fertile soil, they could produce a high grade and high quality cotton. They could grow it for less and sell it for more than they could in the Southeast."

"The southern farmer felt the average acreage of cotton per farm in 1929 to about 20 in the western. It is about 50."

The Boston Evening American takes no responsibility for the statements of the expert who conducts this column, but gives them to you to what they are worth.

New York, Nov. 7.—Day-to-day speculators were discouraged yesterday. That was an encouraging factor to the bankers behind the market, who are determined to bring about quiet trading, with a minimum of trading for quick profits. Liquidation to protect margin accounts was in evidence. Foreign selling dominated, for the account of traders who had hoped to "clean up" on an expected recovery, which has not yet materialized.

Action of the market is calculated to discourage speculators and turn surplus funds into investment channels. No improvement can be forecast for today, because the last hour of trading yesterday indicated that traders were still trying to dump stocks overboard without regard for intrinsic value.

There was not even a semblance of a rally. One single Speculator urged readers to buy for investment and hold stocks for a reasonable period, with the certainty of obtaining a reasonable yield and the possibility of great price appreciation.

Halt Lobbying By Making It a Criminal Offense

APPARENTLY no part of the United States is free from the curse of the lobby evil.

Revelations before the Caraway Committee show that the trail of this insidious enemy of popular government extends to EVERY CORNER OF THE COUNTRY.

And until any attempt to influence legislation except by public appeal is made by law A CRIMINAL OFFENSE the lobbyist will continue to ply his nefarious trade by direct and indirect methods.

SOME of the indirect methods of lobbying were brought to light by the Caraway Committee in the examination of John H. Kirby of Texas and his "VOLUNTEER ASSISTANT," J. A. Arnold.

As president of the Southern Tariff Association and of the National Council of State Legislatures, Mr. Kirby heads a lobby that operates in every state of the Union. And the activities of Mr. Arnold as manager of the American Taxpayers League are no less national in their scope.

On cross-examination Lobbyist Kirby admitted to the Caraway Committee that his organizations have paid the expenses of state and municipal officials to meetings called for the purpose of influencing tariff and tax legislation.

SIX such meetings already have been financed from this source this year. In some cases even the expenses of state commissioners of agriculture who attended these subsidized meetings were paid by the Kirby organizations.

And in one case an attempt was made to assist the Republican National Committee to defeat the Democratic leader of the House—Representative Garner of Texas—for re-election because his tariff views did not coincide with those of the Southern Tariff Association.

Just how much money is spent every year in indirect lobbying of this secret kind by the Kirby, Arnold and kindred organizations, with innocent sounding names, the Caraway Committee has not yet found out.

BUT MR. KIRBY ADMITTED THAT THE ANNUAL INCOME OF TWO OF HIS ORGANIZATIONS INTERESTED IN LEGISLATION TOTALLED BETWEEN $200,000 AND $300,000.

UNTIL Congress faces the lobby evil squarely and deals with it fearlessly, lobbyists will continue to lead sapping expeditions to undermine the government of the people.

The way to rid this country of the curse of the lobby evil is for the Congress to pass a law making it a CRIMINAL OFFENSE to attempt to influence any public official in the performance of his public duty except through a public appeal. When Congress takes the lead in this vital matter the states will soon follow its example.

Such a law would put it in the power of a public official to expose the crime of lobbying and in the power of the courts to send the convicted lobbyist to jail.

THAT IS WHERE THE LAW SENDS THE MAN WHO ATTEMPTS TO "INFLUENCE" A JUDGE OR TO TAMPER WITH A JURY.

And tampering with the legislators or the administrators of the people is of a piece with seducing a judge or tampering with a jury of the people.

Truth About Movies

Safe Comment From Bavaria
(Copyright, 1929)

DR. KOELSH, Bavarian State Councillor and Industrial Minister to the Bavarian Government, having tested the effect of American moving pictures on young people, declares that they turn the young AWAY from crime and evil-doing because they show inevitable punishment for crime.

That is one of very few common sense statements about moving pictures.

Dr. Koelsh goes even further and tells his American audience, "I believe, as a physician, that if this invention had not come at this time, and had not been developed with the competency with which your producers brought it to its perfection, the routine of modern industrial life would have put up human emotions and tensed human nerves until there might well have come an explosion volcanic enough to disrupt society."

Education for Arabs

The British Will Supply It
(Copyright, 1929)

THANKS to British guns and airplanes there is at present no religious murdering in Jerusalem or throughout Palestine. And the Sheikh Taz Leb Maraka is on trial before British judges for instigating, murdering and looting at Hebron.

But Arabs throughout the East, including women, are organizing for political action, protesting to the British High Commissioner against regulations that give use of the "Wall Wall" to Jewish residents.

The Arabs themselves are amazed by the intense excitement among their women, leaving the harems to organize for independent action for the first time in history.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. MINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Broadway, wearing suspicion on its sleeve, shrinks from anything suggesting a "racket". One night last summer a shaggy, unkempt creature darted out from a darkened doorway to pounce upon a crust of bread under a brilliantly lighted theater marquee.

Crowds awaited their cars. A few glanced at him and several smiled knowingly. His was an ancient, bugged trick—known as "dummy shaking." It is worked by "planting" the bread in the gutter so that when the starveling falls upon it the sympathetic will shiver him with change.

A policeman, suspecting the venerable film-flim, collared the fellow and piloted him to a station house, where he collapsed. A police surgeon found he was actually suffering from acute malnutrition. Due bread was given and the man went on.

There is a story of a woman coming out of an East Side mansion late at night to catch a wayfarer for help. She said a savage police dog refused to permit her to enter the nursery where her children were crying. He suspected a game and went on.

When day broke she was found in a swoon on the front steps and the dog had to be shot by a policeman before he could enter the house. A gentleman at a 5th avenue restaurant made a sizable wager that no one on the street would pay a dollar for a perfectly good $200 suit.

It was tried out. Fourteen people were stopped and shown the suit. It was explained it was not a counterfeit but a wager had been made it could not be sold along the streets for a dollar. Thirteen threatened and walked away. The fourteenth called an officer.

New York has been long the paradise of every type of confidence man and racketeer that everybody shies at an overtone of anything for nothing. All the wily thought and get off with a quick money here for some reason smothered here—the recent Tel-

THE woman says—but she sometimes has to do a lot of wheeling to get the money out of men before she settles.

When a stenographer marries her employer she merely stops inventing his alibis for him and begins listening to them.

A man's conscience works slow like a bomb; but a woman's conscience begins to bubble, even before she has discovered what she is going to HAVE any temptations or not.

Here and there, still exists an old-fashioned man to whom a kiss from a girl who has been stowed much longer than he is alluring as a warm-up before a predigested breakfast.

No doubt, when the modern girl sees Daddy peek Mama on the cheek, with his eye on the doc's hand and his hand on the door-knob—that is when she decides that she'll get all her kisses before marriage.

A woman-hater is usually a man whose finger has been soiled by a woman's sex merely because he didn't happen to get one of them—or he calls her DID.

When his wife starts talking, a man can always find something else to give his attention to, even if it's only last night's newspaper. Many a man who has been wound around a woman's finger for years has unraveled with startling swiftness the moment he found that he could pull loose.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

BELOW my camp in the mountains there is a little meadow. One comes upon it, unexpectedly, at a turn in the trail.

The trails are dusty and rocky. They are thick with thorny brush. They are work trails. They are long to every day life. They belong with digging ditches and building dams and raising corn.

There are swayed trails. They are swayed by one, come upon this lovely open space with its wall of Elsie Robinson trees.

It is very quiet in the little meadow. The deep grass rippling gently in a silvery blue. . . then dark in smoky shade.

There is clover in the blue grass and buttercup and tall blue iris and, in the fall, a yellow weed that smells like cinnamon. Always fragrance rises softly from the meadow, like a gentle breath.

Butterflies flutter above the flowers in lemon and lavender swarms. Sometimes they come so thickly that they seem a twinkling, iridescent veil.

Larks nest in the grass, and come and titter, and they move. And always there is the tinkling and chuckle of a little stream and, if you listen, you can hear drowsed bells beneath the murmuring water.

But the loveliest thing is the light. The light is never the same at any two hours.

IN the narrow space between the densely-packed alveoli run the capillaries, the arterioles (little arteries), and the venules (little veins).

These two factors combine in increasing the volume of the blood, and are assisted in so doing by a simultaneous movement of the diaphragm.

The diaphragm is a muscular, cone-shaped structure, its edges to the ribs, backbones and sternum, but free in the middle. Its central part is of tendon, but its marginal part is of muscle, radiating, muscle-fibres. When these muscles contract, the dome center is pulled upwards; the diaphragm presses on the liver, which immediately beneath it, and on the other abdominal organs.

Now the thoracic cavity is so elastic that it expands, and it these two elastic bags, the lungs, which communicate freely with the atmosphere, draw air through the trachea with the out-air.

In men, the principal factor in quick breathing is the movement of the diaphragm. In women, on the other hand, the principal part played by the upper movements of the ribs and movements of the diaphragm.

The action of the ribs depends on two purely structural features. The first is that as the ribs run forward they also run downward; the attachment of any rib to the sternum is lower than its attachment to the backbone. The second is that the ribs are curved, lying as they are in the curved walls of the chest.

During inspiration the actual movement of the chest wall is produced by contraction of these intercostal muscles, which pull the ribs closer together. The uppermost rib, solidly attached to the sternum, is pulled up towards the neck and shoulders, as a kind of pivot, the lower ribs being pulled up toward it.

The effect of this anatomical features just noted this pull has two effects; firstly, because of the downward slope of the ribs, it pushes forward the lower part of the chest; secondly, because of the curve of the ribs, it increases the front-to-back depth of the chest.

Ordinary room air is for various reasons unfit for so great an intimacy as this; it is only improved and chastened air that is drawn into the alveoli. A vast considerable process of purification and sterilization has to occur in the lungs.

The cavity of the nose is divided into a series of narrow shelves of bone, projecting from the walls, which divide the air into a series of narrow channels, each of which is lined with a sticky mucus, and also with other cells whose duties are to distribute the mucus evenly over the surfaces and to keep it moving slowly towards the throat.

Only 23 universities are free of subsidizing and proselytizing. If there is any foundation to the Carnegie rumor,

We see no objection to a boy earning his way through college by playing football. They do it by working in laundries.

If he had the choice of washing and mending his clothes or of working to tear it off his back.

In the old days we were seen so often in a campus saloon that we were suspected of being a student.

The football team used to train in there and win the championship of the state player during a mild, intercollegiate scrimmage.

He got another diploma when he graduated from the U. S. Army. Now his entire wealth is earned as a roving back in a chain system of education consisting of two diploma on golden football and silver basketball.
